

NEW BREAD TRUST THINKS ITS "POOL" IS WITHIN LAW

Can't Be Reached Under Sherman Law, as Business Is Not "Interstate."

UNCLE SAM WATCHING.

Representatives of 20 Concerns in Combine Meet Here in Secret Session.

A "bread war" will start as soon as the General Baking Company, the newly organized $10,500,000 Bread Trust, enters the field in this and the seventeen other cities in which it intends to conduct its operations. This was the announcement made to-day by an official of one of the baking companies which is not a part of the new combine.

"The trust will begin by playing for public favor," said this official. "It is our policy to gain public support the price of bread may be cut. Then little by little the small bakers will be forced to sell out to the trust at the trust's price and when the competition has been wiped out the price will be raised."

Then the speaker let a clear into places and remarked:

"But, believe me, it is going to be some fight."

It is very likely that the Government will take an active part in this fight when it gets started and will subject the new organization to the closest sort of scrutiny with an eye to prosecution in case it violates the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

The organizers of the General Baking Company refused to-day to divulge any of the proceedings at the meeting which was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of Davies, Auerbach, Cornell & Barry, No. 34 Nassau street, for the purpose of perfecting the final arrangements for beginning operations.

Mr. W. H. Barry, one of the attorneys who would discuss the announcement from Washington that a Government investigation of the mammoth alliance which may involve control of life's staple was being contemplated. The only person who would talk at all on the latter phase of the situation was Charles H. Tuttle, one of the lawyers who was present at the meeting. He admitted hearing rumors of the Government's interest in the General Baking Company, but he felt sure that no law would be violated by the new combination.

DENY THAT COMBINE IS INTERSTATE AFFAIR.

Fifty representatives of the various big concerns interested in the new trust were present at yesterday's meeting. It is reported that at this meeting officers were elected and a series of by-laws adopted, but the leaders refused to give any information regarding the action taken.

Herbert Barry, one of the lawyers of the new organization, said that there was a liberal agreement not to talk.

A. A. Tilney, manager for Harvey Fish & Sons, the brokerage firm handling the financial end of the new trust, when asked concerning the afternoon meeting said:

"I was present for a time, but cannot say exactly what was done. I do not think that any officers were elected, however."

Questioned regarding reports from Washington that the Government is going to investigate the new trust, Mr. Tilney said:

"There is nothing the Government can investigate. We are not engaged in interstate commerce. If merchants of different States agree, for the best interests of all concerned, to combine and pool earnings, that is nothing that can possibly come under the direction of the Federal Government."

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Solicitor-General Lehman denies that he attended the first meeting in New York for the organization of the Bread Trust.

"There is absolutely no truth in the report," said the Solicitor-General. "I have not been in New York since assuming my present office, nor have I in any way at any time sanctioned any plans for a Bread Trust or a bakery combine. The reports that I have given any sanction to the new trust are fabrications."

Mr. Fowler, assistant to the Attorney-General, said that no sanction has been given to the new combine, and added that the Government is watching with close attention the organizing of the bakers, and that at the proper time the new corporation will be carefully investigated.

United States Senator W. S. Kenyon of Iowa, former assistant to the Attorney-General, says that while he was in the Department of Justice he had occasion to look into the plans of the combination of bakers and found nothing in them to warrant any fear of a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

"I understand that the new combine is to confine its business to the local market," said the Senator, "and in that case it would not be a violation of the Sherman act."

THEATRE MAY CURE HER.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 15.—Mrs. Homer Remillard of Cherry street, for twenty-two years a paralytic who had not left her home, astonished her friends Tuesday night by going to the theatre to see Sarah Bernhardt in "L'Aiglon."

The excitement of the evening promises to result in Mrs. Remillard's complete recovery. The incident did not become generally known until to-day.

The Sale of Women's Lingerie Dresses announced Wednesday will be continued to-morrow

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. More than half of the 3,000 lingerie dresses advertised for Thursday and Friday have been sold. This not only confirms our judgment that these dresses are remarkable values, but it shows that we were right in our opinion that we have timed this event not a day too soon nor a day too late. Women are contemplating just at this time the purchase of lingerie apparel for immediate wear, and an opportunity to buy a charming garment for practically half of what she had expected to pay for it was sure to appeal to every woman who has an eye for sensible economy.

Meanwhile the sale continues merry as a marriage bell. And 1,200 additional dresses—belated guests at the feast—will put in their appearance to-morrow to help offset the depletion which has already taken place.

Extraordinary Silk Shirt Sale for Youths and Boys

Values 2.50, 3.50 and 4.50: Special at 1.65

Yes, there is a wide margin between these values and the price we now ask for them, and that margin is just the measure of profit this sale means to you. A maker had an accumulation of silk shirt lengths and we told him that if they were tailored into high-grade shirts for boys and offered at 1.65 apiece, our patrons would buy them. The fabrics are imported and crepe silks, with silk Russian cords. Guaranteed fast colors and made with French double cuffs and extra collar to match. Sizes 12 to 14½ neckbands.

Pajamas for Youths and Boys

Value 1.00; Saturday at 65c

Born to sell at a dollar, but reconciled to sell for less. It's a pity, too, for these garments are worth more. But they will give a dollar's worth of service in any event. That's where their value comes in. Made of fine self-striped Madras, in light blue, pink, gray or white, with four frogs. 4 to 18 years.

Women's Long Silk Gloves at 79c worth 1.00 and 1.25

Long silk gloves are all the vogue just now, yet they are by no means as plentiful as they might be. Doubtless because the demand has pretty well exhausted the supply. And at any rate, they are selling for 1.00 and 1.25 per pair, and are well worth it. We should have asked the same for the gloves in tomorrow's sale, but we contrived to buy 120 dozen at a special price and the benefit of this saving is rightly yours. They are the 16 button, elbow length, mousquetaire style, of fine Milanese silk, with double tip fingers, Paris point embroidered, and come in black or white.

Boys' Two Trouser Suits at 4.95

were 5.75 and are worth more

Not a collection of garments recruited from half a dozen sources for this sale, but smart, dapper little suits taken right from our own shelves, and their prices shaded just to give them a better opportunity to see service. Made of all-wool materials, of neat designs, in Norfolk and double-breasted models. Excellently trimmed and finished.

Youths' & Boys' Blue Serge Suits

Ages 14 to 20. Sizes 30 to 36. 12.50 and 15.00.

A blue serge at 12.50 or 15.00, tailored by Saks, is well worth talking about. It is seldom indeed that clothes for young men between the ages of 14 and 20 exhibit such distinctiveness in their lines and such excellence in workmanship as is to be found in Saks-made clothes at these prices.

And this is due to no monopoly of the art of tailoring, but to the fact that we do not buy our clothes from manufacturers, but make them ourselves. Furthermore, we have been making clothes for more than forty years, and that experience counts for something. Finally, we never confound the needs of young men with the needs of their seniors.

Saks-made clothes for youths and boys are made by tailors who confine their labors to youthful garments.

Yet Saks-made clothes cost you no more than those clothes which cannot offer you these advantages.
